

Harker Ascendant! (Also, some sneak previews)

October is spooky month, and even though I am not the biggest fan of Halloween, it is the month in which Jonathan Harker-Murray Esq is at the height of his power. Please enjoy this photo of him taken by my boyfriend to send me while I was at work, where the cat is "grumpy."

I can't blame him for being grumpy about capitalism, because it's kept me pretty busy this month. Still, things are happening quietly in the background!

Rise of the Red Blades

I know, I know, I normally do writing updates first, but I have a special treat for newsletter subscribers later on, so let's get this out of the way real quick first.

On Gold Squadron Gays, Bradley and I needed a break from TV. It just got exhausting after a while! So we snuck in a few weeks of talking about the Marvel limited series "Inquisitors", a four-issue comic that recently came out, before we get back into The Acolyte and Skeleton Crew. We also have some cool announcements coming soon and some fun plans for next year!

I can't even describe what happened in the Second Battle of Jedha arc on For Light and Dice. You just have to listen and find out. It's crazy.

New Character Arc Sneak Peek!

Beachouse Studios' third installment continues editing work as I write ahead on book four. It's a tricky balancing act to walk - the two are very different entries in the series. With the grand finale mostly outlined out, it's just a matter of getting to it. Right now, the series is still on track to where it needs to be!

Even though I write the series, it's not just me who works to get books out. One of the people I work with is Jordan, the fantastic cover artist for the series. I love giving Jordan money at literally any opportunity so in the downtime between books, and so I've commissioned a series of character cards! (And do not fear, she is also working on the cover for Book 3 at present.)

The cards will come out in batches over the next few months, with the first two batches covering characters from Beachouse Studios, the third from Second Shoot, followed by batches of characters from Books 3 and 4. I love Jordan's art style, and so I'm pleased to sneak a preview of the first batch before it drops on social media later this week.

Without further preamble - the first official look at Ry Thompson, Tim Martinez, Dan Sebring, and Emily Griel.

It's The Busiest Month Of The Year...

November is usually the busiest month of the year, between my birthday and the beginning of the Thanksgiving-Christmas season. This November is going to be even busier with the release of Dragon Age: The Veilguard. I should still have updates! But I am going to take a little time to myself and enjoy this game, since I've been waiting a decade for it.

See y'all from Thedas!
