

I'm Having A Perfectly Normal Month

Welcome to the February 2024 newsletter! It's been a crazy month, as you'll see, but Jonathan Harker remains exactly where he's been, watching me ominously from the bed as I type.

Usually I try to get these newsletters out on the first of the month, but this month has been so crazy that it took me a few days to even have the time. A lot is going on! Let's dive into it.

Beachouse Studios calls "action!"

The biggest news this month is that Beachouse Studios' first installment, at long last, released on January 31st. The reception I've gotten has been incredible so far! Thank you to everyone who preordered the book, purchased it since release, or is reading it on Kindle Unlimited.

If you liked the book, be sure to leave a review on either Amazon or your review site of choice. At this early stage, it really helps the book get discovered!

You can find the book here if you haven't gotten it already. (There's an announcement at the end as well!)

Worlds Between Worlds

Gold Squadron Gays continues its journey through "Ahsoka." As of sending this newsletter, episode 4 should be out, and so we're halfway done already! Next, we'll be finishing up our coverage of "Star Wars Visions" season 1 that was paused due to the SAG-AFTRA strike. After that, we'll move onto "The Bad Batch's" final season.

Over on For Light and Dice, our prolonged break has come to an end. The Phantasmal Squonk will finally touch down on Lysatra, and our heroes will have a chance to deal with all... that. You're all welcome for saving Thranto, by the way. I know that's what's important to people. Next time you read Thrawn 2017, be sure to thank Wynne, Korael, Goz, Lysander, and Zero.

How Many More Of These Do I Have To Write?

That's the news for February! It's shaping up to be a busy month, as editing work for Beachouse Studios: Second Shoot is beginning in earnest. I am also halfway through writing the third book, and I'm very excited to take people on the journey this series turns out to be. There's twists! There's turns! There's murder! Maybe more than one! You'll have to read on to find out. I can't wait to go on the trip with y'all.
